PINCHOT OUT FLAT FOOTED AGAINST WONER DRY LAW

Wants State Law That
Will Dovetail With the
Volstead Law In Every Possible Prosecution.

PLEDGE TO WOMEN

Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 30.—Gifford Pinchot tonight assured the convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union that when he is Governor the neutral zone between State and national prohibition enforcement provided by the Woner act would be removed. The Republican nominee said he purposed to abolish the zone in which law breaking flourishes by bringing about repeal of the Brooks High License Act and its paradoxical amendment, the Woner act.

Women Ask Explicit Question
Both Mr. Pinchot and his Democratic opponent addressed the W. C. T. U. convention. To each of them was addressed the following question by Mrs. Ella M. George, State President:

If elected Governor of Pennsylvania will you advocate and support the repeal of the Brooks License Law and the Woner act and the passage of an enforcement measure to harmonize State legislation with Federal enactment upon the liquor issues.

Mr. Pinchot's answer was short and to the point. Without digressing from the subject of prohibition enforcement, he said:

"It is not enough to be 'dry' when you are with dry people in dry territory. The man who really stands with those who oppose the liquor traffic is as dry in wet surroundings as he is in a W. C. T. U. convention. There are two sides to this question. One is the law; the other is the enforcement of the law.

"I am for the abolition of the licensed saloon and I hope to see during my term as Governor the last saloon disappear from Pennsylvania soil. For that purpose we must repeal the Brooks law as amended by the Woner bill and put the law in Pennsylvania as squarely in accord with the Volstead act and the Eighteenth Amendment. The way to put an end to licensed saloons is to take away the power to license.

Joint Concern in State and Nation

"The enforcement of the Volstead act is the joint concern of the State and the Nation. Authority to carry out its provisions, therefore, does not lie solely with the State Government. The officials of the State, however, can and should co-operate to the fullest extent with the national prohibition enforcement in particular to see to it that there is no neutral zone between the activities of the two in which law breaking can flourish.

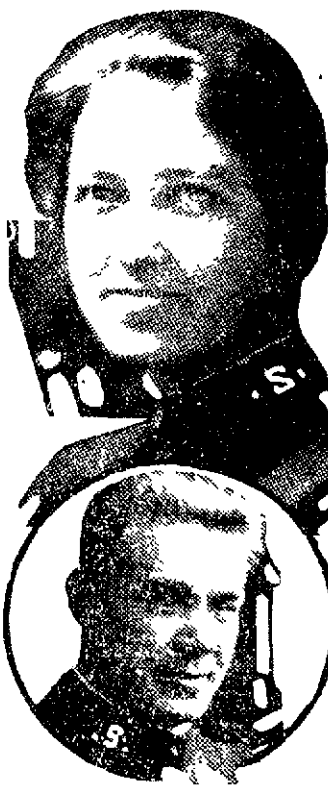

"I am pledged to use all the power of the governorship to prevent and punish bootlegging. That I will do." Mr. McSparran's answer to the same query was simply a promise to enforce the present laws.

FIND BLOODY KNIFE NEAR SCENE OF THE HALL-MILLS MURDER

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 2.—A blood-stained butcher knife found in the vicinity of the mysterious Hall-Mills murder which has baffled the best brains of the criminologists was carefully examined by officers today. The knife and the only man who knows anything about it was thoroughly examined in regard to it. The knife was found in a shack on the deserted Phillips farm which is occupied by a farm hand. It is an old-fashioned butcher knife of a kind that could have been used in the slaying of Mrs. Mills. It was found by state troopers sent to the scene of the crime under orders from Governor Edwards in response to the plea of Charlotte Mills, daughter of the murdered woman, who made a plea to the governor that state aid be given in the search for the murderer.

The farm hand was severely grilled but maintained that the knife had been used in butchering and then never cleaned. The blood stain on the knife will be analyzed in an effort to determine whether the stain is human or animal blood.

AUTO INDUSTRY IS BIGGEST BUSINESS IN ALL THE WORLD

Analysis of Information
Gained From Govt.
Sources Discloses Some
Very Important Facts.

EMPLOYS 1,662,000

Analysis of information secured through Governmental sources discloses that the automobile industry is the largest manufacturing enterprise in the world.

Thirty years ago, Bryce in his classic treatise on the American Commonwealth referred to America's great railway system as the means of communication that held this country together and rendered it one for all social, political and commercial purposes.

"During the past decade," says the October issue of the Automobile Trade Journal, "another great advance in inter-communication has been made. The automobile marks the most successful attempt to provide 'individual transportation' since the first cave-man harnessed the progenitor of the modern horse and thereby supplied himself with a means of travel afield."

The tremendous growth of the automobile industry in recent years is due solely to the fact that it has supplied a public need.

Far Greater Than Steel and Iron.

The value of the 1922 automotive output will be approximately as follows:

Automobiles	$1,350,000,000
Tires	675,000,000
Replacement parts	575,000,000
Accessories	150,000,000
Total	$2,725,000,000

This total is 33 per cent greater than the value of the output in the second largest industry, the refining of petroleum (65 per cent of which is used by automobiles), 65 per cent greater than the value of the iron and steel output, and more than twice the value of all cotton goods produced in the textile mills of the country.

Affects Many Basic Industries.

The automobile business is the most essential of our manufacturing industries, because it directly affects a greater number of what might be termed "basic" industries, than does any other manufacturing enterprise.

Annual imports of crude rubber into the United States are now 600,000,000 pounds per annum. Of this total, 81 per cent or 490,000,000 pounds, will be required this year for (Continued on Page Five)

STATE'S MEDICOES ANNUAL MEETING IS BEING HELD TODAY

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 2. (U. P.)—More than 1,500 physicians, their wives and friends were present when the 72nd annual conference of the State Medical Society of Pennsylvania opened in the Thirteenth Regiment Armory here today.

Four separate sessions will get under way at the armory simultaneously each day. The conference will be divided into four sections—surgery, medicine, children's diseases and ear, eye, nose and throat affections. Doctors specializing in each branch will give lectures.

A mammoth exhibition of drugs, surgical instruments and the latest inventions in the world of medicine occupy a greater portion of the armory main floor. The public will be admitted to this exhibition.

The convention proper opened today at 10 o'clock with an address of welcome by Mayor John Durkan. An elaborate entertainment program has been arranged for the delegates.

The big social function of the convention will be a reception for Dr. Lawrence Litchfield, of Pittsburgh, president elect of the organization at the armory Wednesday night.

Dr. Ernest LaPlante of Philadelphia will lecture on "The World's greatest benefactor, Louis Pasteur" on Thursday evening.

The convention is scheduled to end at midnight, October 5th.

Philipsburg Miner Is
Lucky Enough To Be
Blown Out of Range of
40 Dynamite Sticks.

THREE ARE HURT

Philipsburg people, as well as those in the near-by surrounding region, were startled and for a bit mystified by terrific explosion that jolted buildings and rattled windows in all directions, about 7 o'clock Friday evening.

Immediately following the explosion the fire alarm was sounded, the clocks in the Hope and Reliance fire building indicating the alarm had been turned in from box 41; which is at Eleventh and Cherry streets. Hundreds of people in motor cars and on foot followed the fire engines to the Third Ward where, at the home of William Schiele, on Twelfth street, a small building, standing in the rear of the lot, had been blown to bits by an explosion of dynamite, and the windows of nearby houses broken and plaster in some of them jolted from walls and ceilings.

Three persons were injured and taken to the Cottage State hospital. They were:

William Schiele, 32 years old, severely burned on the body, face and hands.

Allen Smiley, 28 years old, an abrasion of the cheek, neck and forehead.

George Mayes, 50 years old, laceration on the palm of the hand.

According to a statement made at the hospital by Mr. Schiele he had filled his powder can from the keg kept in the small building. As it was dark or nearly so, he used a match. A piece of the burnt match fell into the loose powder, which blew up, setting fire to Schiele's clothing. He ran toward the house, shouting for assistance. Neighbors responded, and as the small building was afire from the powder, Allen Smiley and George Mayes ran toward it to extinguish the flames, having secured a couple of vessels of water.

Mr. Schiele shouted that there was dynamite in the building. The warning came too late. Both men were only a short distance from it when the dynamite exploded with a deafening report, the powder having set fire to paper kept for mine shooting, the flames eventually reaching mine caps presumably and thus setting off the dynamite.

Smiley was struck by pieces of flying timbers, as was also Mayes. Schiele's injuries were mostly from the burning powder. Schiele and Smiley were both reported in an improved condition this morning and Mayes was enabled to leave the hospital Friday night after his injuries were attended to. Mrs. Nina Schiele, mother of William Schiele, one of the injured men, suffered much from shock and fright. She and her son lived together.

The barn and chicken house of Mike Hondoga, next to the Schiele property was badly damaged. His house was also badly jolted and windows broken. The Schiele residence was much damaged, pictures having been shaken from the walls, plaster jarred loose and window lights shattered. The Lupton home, a brick residence standing in rear of the scene of the explosion, had many broken windows. Indeed, few of the houses in that part of town escaped damage altogether.

It is said there was about forty pounds of dynamite in the explosion, though the report has not been verified.

Schiele and Smiley are miners and Mayes is an ice deliveryman.

WATER SITUATION REVIEWED; SHOWS NO CAUSE FOR IMMEDIATE CONCERN

Another week has gone by without a drop of rain, and while the weather, man again promises us a week of fair weather, with "probable showers," there is really no hope of the drought breaking for the immediate present at least.

On occasions or during conditions such as have been confronting Clearfield and the patrons of the Clearfield Water Company various disturbing rumors, 99 per cent of which are absolutely without foundation and only seek to worry and annoy the timorous or uninformed, are put in circulation. There has been an extra large stock of these baseless and annoying stories current in Clearfield since the water got low, and while hardly to be dignified by a denial are entitled to this refutation because of their persistent circulation and the tendency of some people to believe such rot as we have in mind.

In order to check up on the water situation in Clearfield and for the purpose of giving the true state of the facts, we investigated all the "wild rumors" rampant about the town in some quarters and in the course of that investigation kept tab on the quantity of water in reserve in the Montgomery reservoir, together with a check as near as possible from observation just how much that reserve was depleted by one week's consumption.

That investigation disclosed that on Saturday, September 23d, there was a reserve supply of approximately 45,000,000 gallons of water, with an estimated inflow of between 400,000 and 500,000 gallons per 24-hour day. The daily consumption of water by the patrons of the water company ranged between 1,500,000 and 1,750,000 gallons, with the result that on Saturday, September 30th, the reserve supply in the reservoir amounted to 40,000,000 or a total depletion for the week of 5,000,000 gallons.

It is only necessary to add that at the rate of consumption the "hard water" there is enough water on hand at the reservoir to last us at least eight weeks without a drop of rain. Therefore the futility of being disturbed by wild rumors should be apparent to all.

On Sunday morning the gauge in the office of the water company showed a pressure of 65 pounds, which should and no doubt did ensure water for all consumers of the company, except those few on the very highest points about the town.

That more or less discomfort and inconvenience will be caused water consumers locally by the long continued dry spell is to be expected; let us bear with same with the good grace the serious situation requires, remembering that every drop of water we waste will be just that much denied some person or family that need it. Remember, too, that in many sections of Clearfield county, water for stock and domestic consumption is being hauled distances ranging from one-half up to five miles.

This is the time to be sensible and reasonable regarding the water situation in Clearfield. Let us all try to be so, even tho it hurts.

CONSUL B. F. CHASE RETURNS HOME

Hon. Benjamin F. Chase, United States Consul at Messina, Italy, for the past year, and who has been in the Consular service for the past ten or more years, arrived home at noon yesterday.

Consul Chase is thinking seriously of severing his connection with the Consular Service, and is said to be considering a business proposition in an adjoining State.

He was met at the train yesterday by Mrs. Chase who came here from her home in Erie, where he had been visiting.

QUAIL VISIT SEWICKLEY

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 2. (U. P.)—For the first time in years, the people of Sewickley can say that a covey of quail visited the town.

They are still wondering though, what induced the birds to alight on the lawn adjoining the municipal building. About fifteen of them settled down on the lawn and remained there, the center of interest throughout the day, until a negro, Allan Gibson, shot one of the birds, frightening the rest of them away. Gibson was arrested and fined $10.

FIRST JOINT MEET UNDER CLEVELAND AGREEMENT TODAY

Three Major Proposals
Must Be Determined On
Before Actual Work of
Scale Making Begins.

HOW TO PROCEED

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Bituminous coal operators and miners assembled here today to take action to avert another nationwide strike of coal miners next April 1st, when the present Cleveland scale expires. The assembled delegates have three propositions before them which they will endeavor to settle on before the end of the session so that the provisions of the agreement made a month ago will be carried out. These propositions are outlined by President John Lewis today were:

First, the naming of a joint committee to investigate the coal industry from all angles.

Second, the naming of a joint committee to formulate methods of negotiating a new scale to take the place of the one which will expire April 1st, 1923.

Third, to determine the procedure for the joint committee of inquiry so that it will not conflict with the coal commission to be appointed by President Harding.

Clearfield Will Be Represented At Group Meeting On Seal Sale

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 2.—The last of five sectional conferences to make plans for the 1922 Christmas Seal sale will be held at the Hotel Penn Alto next Wednesday, October 4th.

The Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society will be in charge of the conference. S. M. Sharpe will represent the National Tuberculosis Association.

The tuberculosis organizations in the southwestern and central sections of the State will be represented including the following counties—Blair, Huntingdon, Fulton, Mifflin, Juniata, Peerry, Bedford, Somerset, Fayette, Greene, Washington, Westmoreland, Cambria, Armstrong, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, Center, Beaver.

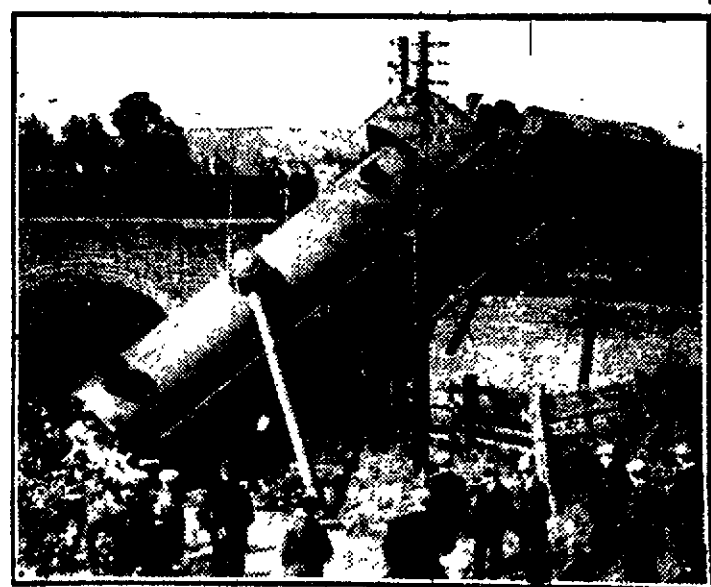

Sectional Seal conferences have already been held at Philadelphia, Scranton, Williamsport and Erie.

WILL ERECT BUSINESS BUILDING

The tearing down and removal of the double frame house, formerly the Finkbeiner bakery property, at the corner of Third and Locust streets, was begun this morning. This property was recently purchased by Earl Smith from S. L. Driggs.

It is Mr. Smith's intention to erect on that site a four-story brick building. He will occupy the lower floor with his music store and devote the other floors to residence flats.

PRESIDENT OF U. S. AND GOVERNORS AID STATE'S BIG DRIVE

State College, Pa., Oct. 2.—President Harding, Governor Sprout, U. S. Commissioner of Education J. T. Tigert and a dozen heads of State Universities to the south and west of Pennsylvania have sent messages wishing President John M. Thomas, of the Pennsylvania State College, success in the $2,000,000 emergency building fund campaign for student health and welfare buildings that was launched today by alumni in all parts of the State and country.

The importance of State College as a service institution to the people of Pennsylvania, in its possible position as the State university, is the keynote of the many telegrams that have flooded the office of President Thomas in the past three days. In a letter to Dr. Thomas, President Harding said: "I wish you all success in your undertaking to persuade the people of Pennsylvania to follow the example of every State west of them to provide a free institution of higher learning ample to meet the needs of the commonwealth."

Governor Sprout wired the Penn State executive yesterday expressing sincere wishes for success in the $2,000,000 campaign, and "The aim to raise Penn State to the level with its sister institutions in other States, and to make available to the sons and daughters of Pennsylvania the best possible free higher education must have the hearty approval of all other citizens of our commonwealth."

That Penn State's legislative support is "paltry" as compared to that given the University of Michigan is the opinion of Dr. M. L. Burton, president of that institution, who wired that his university received $11,000,000 for the present biennium. President Walter Hüllihen, of the University of Delaware wired that the legislature of that State provides twice as much for its State institution in proportion to the number of students as does Pennsylvania.

In his message today to President Thomas, Commissioner Tigert said: "I hope that the appropriation for Penn State College will be increased to a figure at least proportionate to that received by leading State universities of the nation. Pennsylvania is one of our wealthiest States and there is no reason why its institution of higher learning should not rank with the very best in America. It should be a matter of pride to appropriate sufficient money to accomplish this purpose."

Messages also came from President

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching, eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream. (adv.)

BERNARD J. MYERS,
Secretary of the Commonwealth.

State's aims in the first campaign ever attempted by the college were given in a few words by President Thomas this morning when he said: "We seek only to give every Pennsylvania boy and girl who desires it, and who proves he is worthy of it, a just opportunity to obtain a higher education, and to give that maximum of service to the people of the commonwealth that residents of other States enjoy from their State universities. Our students now must have the health and welfare buildings that the fund will provide, and we look to the State to provide the facilities that will enable us to give all an equal chance in future development as the Pennsylvania State University."

Section 4. No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State, except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue, repel invasion, suppress insurrection, defend the State in war, or to pay existing debt; and the debt created to supply deficiencies in revenue shall never exceed, in the aggregate at any one time, one million dollars; Provided, however, That the General Assembly, irrespective of any debt, may authorize the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the Commonwealth; Provided further, however, That the General Assembly, irrespective of any debt, may authorize the State to issue bonds to the amount of thirty-five millions of dollars for the payment of compensation to certain persons from the State who served in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States, during the World War, between the sixth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and eighteen, and the eleventh day of November, one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

Section 2. Said proposed amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-four, for the purpose of deciding upon the approval and ratification or the rejection of said amendment. Said election shall be opened, held, and closed upon election day at the places and within the hours at and within which said election is directed to be opened, held, and closed, and in accordance with the provisions of the laws of Pennsylvania governing elections. Such amendment shall be printed upon the ballots in the form and manner prescribed by the election laws of Pennsylvania, and shall in all respects conform to the requirements of such laws.

The Legislature shall have power to classify counties, cities, boroughs, school districts, and townships according to population, and all laws passed relating to each class, and all laws passed relating to, and regulating procedure and proceedings in court with reference to, any class, shall be deemed general legislation within the meaning of this Constitution; but counties shall not be divided into more than eight classes, cities into not more than seven classes, school districts into not more than five classes, and boroughs into not more than three classes.

How do you like your Hair Cut?

Why is that some men will walk ten blocks to sit in a certain barber's chair for a hair cut that lasts only ten days—when in the same breath the same man will drop into any old hat store and select a block that he is going to wear for six months?

In cutting hair as in selling hats—what is left on is more important than what is taken off.

Besides lots of stock and plenty of mirrors—our hat men have the supreme nerve to tell a man whenever a hat looks awful.

You can trust us—with your appearance as well as your purse.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The present dry spell has served to demonstrate to Clearfield people the exceptional water facilities our town possesses. With every town and hamlet in this section of the State in serious straits for water, patrons of the Clearfield Water Company, with but a rare exception, have an abundance of purest water for their needs. Certainly a condition to be thankful for.

Raffaello Luffellett, a young Italian resident of Clearfield for the past fifteen years, a World War ex-service man, with a record for sobriety, industry and clean living, has reason to believe that republics or commonwealths are more or less ungrateful. Luffellett, despite the fact that he was an alien when the war came, patriotically waived his rights as an alien, responded to Uncle Sam's call and went overseas in 1918 as a part of that splendid army of two million men, which helped very materially to put the Kaiser on his back. After he came home Luffellett fell in love with Miss Viola Vallmont, an East End girl, who had been employed at the Clearfield Overall Factory. The girl looked with favor upon the young man's suit and Dan Cupid managed to find time between times, as it were, to put over the "knockout punch" and despite uncompromising parents of the lady, a trip was made to Cumberland, Md., on August 9th and that evening the two loving hearts were made one by an obliging preacher.

Upon their return "love's young dream" was rudely shattered when the bride mother-in-law invoked the aid of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the happy groom was cast into prison as a felon and at last week's criminal court a jury of nine men and three women said Luffellett was guilty of marrying a girl not quite sixteen without having secured the consent of her parents. This, too, despite the fact that the bride tearfully took the stand and testified in favor of her husband, whom she dearly loves.

How soon are promises forgotten. We sent Luffellett away from Clearfield "with a smile" in 1918 and in 1922 we fire him into a prison cell, where he now awaits sentence—to the penitentiary, too, if it please the Court to do so. And what is his crime? Does the State of Pennsylvania or Clearfield county aim to set itself up, with its courts and laws, to

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Don't stay gray. Nobody can tell when you darken gray, faded hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.—Adv.

determine who and when and why and how two young people shall fall in love and marry. Young Luffellett was honorable in his love-making, his bride is satisfied with his love and his ability to provide for her—which she thinks would be better than a life of toil in the Overall Factory. Isn't it a serious matter under such circumstances to invoke musty times and try to put asunder what God has bound together, when both parties to the compact are satisfied. With the change of one small letter "prosecution" becomes "persecution".

Luffellett has more coming to him from the Commonwealth of Penna., than a prison term for marrying the girl of his choice and it appears to us that, all other efforts being futile, it is up to his buddies of the American Legion to rally to his defense and ask Judge Bell and District Attorney Arnold to exercise the fullest measure of leniency toward him. He ought not to be in jail one minute, but he is there right now.

The Dull Point.

It is hard work to plow with a dull point. Can't do as good a job, either. There is a man downtown that is waiting to sell you a new point. That is the way the world's business is kept up. You need the new point; he needs the dollar you pay him for it.—Barnum Life.

Brown October Days And The Gifts That Last

The brown October days are here and with it comes the distinctly October trend in the Gifts that Last. There is just as much timeliness in gifts as there is to the style of your dress or suit.

And you'll find that we have here a very fine display of the things that go to make up an October gift list. There are things for personal adornment, there are things for the dressing up of your home, there are things for dressing your table.

But lest you get the idea that everything 'round a jewelry store is high priced, we want to impress on you the fact that we are out of the high rent district and prices are lower accordingly. It'll pay you to take the few steps 'round the corner.

A university professor who has just returned from a stay in Constantinople is quoted as declaring that the Turk is "dignified, refined, well-bred,"—quite the reverse of the popular conception of him.

Unfortunately, in the same newspaper, stretched in great black letters clear across the front page was the caption, "Turks Massacre 1,000 Christians," and the article which followed contained particularly revolting details. It is hard to believe that these could have been perpetrated by anyone "dignified, refined and well-bred."

It is easy to understand that the impression of the Constantinople Turk was shaped somewhat by the allied armies camping outside the walls, and by soldiers of the allies who patrolled the streets. Perhaps a sportsmanlike impulse to take the part of the attacked prompted this defense. Perhaps it was only inaccurate observation. At any rate, the witness of all the Turkish atrocities in history disproves this assertion. Mercy should sometimes temper justice, but never sentimentalism. If the Turk is guilty, he should be judged accordingly.

"The only trouble with the Turk is his inherent passion for fighting," continues the professor. Also, it might be added, his methods of fighting. But does not this trouble indicate an unpleasant character behind the fighting?

Perhaps the Turk can be changed. Perhaps his religion is at fault, or perhaps his government. Meanwhile, until the influences which mold his character are radically changed, he had better be put into a position where he can work no more mischief.

LAND WITHOUT STRIKES

It is said that when the doctor from civilization landed upon barbarous shores, bringing the blessings of its cures and remedies to the unenlightened tribes, he first had to introduce the diseases that the cures might be effected.

One cannot call Siam exactly barbarous or uncivilized, but the Siamese government is afraid that the same situation threatens in regard to labor. The International Labor Office of the League of Nations at Geneva has requested a number of nations to join in legislation protecting laboring people, and Siam is included in the list. The ministry of justice, however, had declined, on the ground that there is no labor dissatisfaction in Siam.

It must excite a great deal of surprise that there is yet a country in the world where labor troubles are unknown. Living is cheap, according to the government report. Laborers are satisfied with both wages and hours. There are neither unions nor employers' associations. Strikes and lockouts are unknown. This is a country worth looking into!

So the League of Nations is already seen in the role of imposing laws where they are not needed. They would be not only superfluous but distinctly harmful. Instead of the world teaching Siam a lesson in industrial systems, it might be more appropriate for the world to take a lesson from Siam. How does she do it?

UNHEEDED WARNINGS

"Vesuvius will be in a state of active eruption within two or three years," says Professor Henry S. Washington of the Carnegie Institute, who has just returned from Italy. "When I left Naples, the crater of the volcano had filled up from a depth of 1,200 feet to within 300 feet of the rim."

Will this warning of impending disaster bring consternation to the inhabitants of the villages on the sides of Mt. Vesuvius, causing them to flee to a place of safety while there is yet time? It will not. In spite of the fact that Vesuvius is the best advertised volcano in the world, and one of the most destructive, there are numerous towns and villages clustered around the base and on the sides of the mountain. Excavations at Pompeii have shown that not one city but a series have been buried beneath volcanic ashes at that spot.

Through ignorance or sheer inertia, thousands of people will continue to court disaster by living on the edge of the volcano. It is a habit which appears to be an instinct in the human race. Again and again in the world's history the great volcano of war has poured forth destruction upon the human race, yet it continues to dwell on the dangerous ground of hatred and suspicion and mutual antagonism.

Either some means must be found to extinguish the volcano, or the race must move forward a great deal.

GREECE-D!

WHAT PENNSYLVANIA NEEDS IN EDUCATION

By Dr. John M. Thomas, President Of The Pennsylvania State College

WHAT SHALL IT PROFIT A MAN? What advantage to a man to succeed in business if he fails at home? What shall it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose the soul of his boy? What shall it profit a great strong state to become first in industry and to be excelled by none in wealth, if it deny fair and equal opportunity to its oncoming youth?

The second decade in the twentieth century has brought about a renaissance of American education. The first years of the decade, inaugurating a period of genuine improvement, were followed by the years of war, when the Government showed in more way than one how much it depended upon the schools for the training of those who were to serve. The conclusion of the war saw the schools more in demand than ever. Education shined in the triumph. In the year following the war the enrollment in the colleges and universities increased about 25 per cent. over the enrollment of the last preceding normal year.

But we have not, in any state, arrived at a point where we may rest upon our laurels. In Pennsylvania, we must still work for improvement of our primary, our secondary, and our higher educational institutions. More schools, and especially more vocational schools, and more and better trained teachers are our greatest needs.

According to the most recent census compilation, only three states in the New England, Middle Atlantic and North Central group had a lower percentage of children in school than Pennsylvania. There has undoubtedly been improvement in the position of this state since that result was shown and it is certain that we should see to it that the largest possible proportion of our children between six and fourteen years of age should be in school.

High schools in Pennsylvania have been almost entirely a development of the last quarter of a century. In the last dozen years the attendance at these schools has doubled, and the junior high school has been introduced. At the same time the quality of the teaching given has improved at almost equal pace. In 1909, fifty per cent of the teachers had a normal school training or less. Ten years later, sixty-five per cent of them had college degrees and at the present time, due to legislation passed within the past three years, teachers in greater numbers than ever before, are preparing, through work of college grade, to secure permanent teaching certificates.

Still Something Lacking But after all necessary improvements have been made in the elementary and secondary education in Pennsylvania, there is still something lacking.

This state, at the present time has no state university. With every state to the west and every commonwealth to the south in possession of such an institution, Pennsylvania's educational system cannot be considered complete until there is placed at the apex of her public school system an institution of higher learning giving work of university grade in its several schools. It is true that the Pennsylvania State College is now all but in name a state university. With its five schools and its several departments, it is already doing what the great universities in other states are doing for the people in their districts. These institutions, owned by the commonwealths in which they are situated, and controlled by the people, are fully a part of the public school system. They offer such vocational courses as the boys and girls of today need and demand. They engage in research, not on problems which learned professors might be most interested in, but on practical problems pressing for solution in science, agriculture and industry. They conduct a vast amount of extension work, taking the knowledge of the laboratories and the classrooms into the homes where people live.

Such an institution this state should have, and plans are now under way for its development. The logical place for the Pennsylvania State University is at State College, at the exact geological center of the State, where, for over 60 years, earnest and devoted men have been laying the foundations of such an institution. Here we have a plant and equipment valued at four millions of dollars. We have the constitution and organization of a state university. What is most important we have the tradition of being an institution fully under the control of the State and responsive to its needs.

Start Improvement at Top If we are to continue the improvement of our public school system, we must now begin at the top, just as you would do in business. If you have a run-down enterprise to renovate, you do not start by getting a new janitor, but by getting a new manager.

Leaders Needed The establishment of a first-class university in Pennsylvania would be of great benefit to the agricultural, commercial, and industrial interests of the state. We have the resources, but our great need is men. We cannot have too great a supply of leaders in industry. It will be the business of the State University to supply such leaders, and every man of masterly power produced will create opportunities for many others. The supply of doctors and lawyers may reach the saturation point, but when Bell invented the telephone and when Edison perfected the electric light, they sounded the call for men to apply their inventions to human life.

There is no unconquerable difficulty to be overcome to bring about the planned transformation into a State University. Governor Sprout, in October of last year, endorsed the program for development, and Dr. Thomas F. Finegan, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, on the same occasion, gave his support to the plan for a state university and said that it was his belief that there would be no opposition to the plan from any quarter.

The increased facilities of State College, as it develops into a state university, will be a great boon to the boys and girls of the state who beseege us for admission, but whom we are now obliged to refuse at the rate of one thousand a year. Certainly such a situation is not right in a great state like Pennsylvania, where the boys and girls are our chief interest.

What advantage to a man to succeed in business if he fails at home? What shall it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose the soul of his boy? What shall it profit a great, strong state to become first in industry and to be excelled by none in wealth, if it deny fair and equal opportunity to its oncoming youth?

WEST SIDE M. E. CHURCH RALLY DAY

To those present it was again evident the direful need of a new church to accommodate and satisfactorily instruct and train the boys and girls of this growing church. Every available space for seating was occupied and many standing.

The aim of this Rally Day was 100 per cent attendance of officers, teachers and scholars. The enrollment is 779, excluding the Home and Cradle Roll Departments. The attendance was 708 or almost 91 per cent.

Again the Men's Bible class revealed its interest in the church's work by the splendid attendance of 91. This class is commanding the best its teacher—the pastor—can give.

Special features were the singing of little Miss Eliose Reutter of Cuyahoga, who captivated and charmed all hearers by her two selections. Prof. Shaffer as usual, rendered a splendid violin solo, manifesting his ability as an artist on this instrument.

The twenty-seven girls and boys of the Primary department were occupants of the pulpit platform, while the other members of that and the Beginner's Departments stood in the middle aisle. The pastor welcomed them into the Junior Department thru appropriate words and the presentation of certificates of promotion. The main auditorium is now filled with classes and it will be a problem for the Superintendent, H. L. Shaw and his co-laborers to find place to accommodate these new recruits.

The members of the West Side church are living constantly in the hope that ere long they may be the possessors of the kind of a Temple worthy of the God they love, and requisite to the needs of the youth, who look toward and come to this place of worship.

TRINITY CHURCH NOTES

Before the Bible School yesterday, Missionary Superintendent H. B. Powell, Jr., assisted by Miss Maude Powell's class, presented a fine and informing program. H. B. Jones, superintendent of the Emporium Methodist School, was among the visitors. He addressed the school. Both attendance and offering exceeded last year's record largely.

Special music was arranged for the public worship at both the morning and evening services. The exposition of the startling words of Malachi, 4:1-2, held the attention of the people, for there was a modernness in the message that fixes the truth in Clearfield. The principle set forth in Hebrews 3:1-6 was studied at night from several angles, the application being made to young and old in their treatment of Christ or their dependence on those that compete in their lives with Him.

This week's events. Monday, parsonage, League cabinet. Wednesday auditorium, mid-week congregational gathering, neighboring Methodist churches notified. Echo of Bishop Fisher's wonderful address on "The Living Christ in the Modern World." Friday, 4 p. m. Junior League. Visitation on and south of Orden avenue.

PROVING RELIGION

To many people their religion is a myth, or at best an accepted belief blindly tolerated and not questioned for fear of becoming a doubter and cynic. That there is no need for the acceptance of religion on any such basis when facts exist by which a religion can be proven just as surely as a mathematician proves a solution of a given problem is the purpose of Dr. E. C. Reeve in a series of sermons, the first of which was delivered last night.

Dr. Reeve proved the fact of sin in our religion by the results of sin, pointing out that every sin carried with it a certain punishment, oftentimes delayed, but sure to follow. Applying the theory of cause and effect Dr. Reeve gave an interesting discourse which will be followed next Sunday evening on the Fact of the existence of Christ.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Owing to a fluke at the Clearfield, The Progress did not arrive in Curwensville until Sunday morning.

Last Friday evening after The Progress letter had been deposited in the box for the morning mail, the reporter discovered something unusual going on at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kirk. Saturday upon inquiry he discovered that the event was a party held in honor of their son Henry Kirk's thirteenth birthday. Some two score of his young friends had been invited and were present to enjoy the festivities of the evening. A fine line of refreshments was served at the close of the evening.

quire James C. Bloom, who has been rusticated on a farm not far from Potstown during the summer months, returned to his home in this place last Friday evening. He is an old farmer and the smell and taint of the harvest time still dwells within his system. He was considerably improved by his vacation outing.

Census Taker Mullen has gone over the borough and finished counting the children of school age. He finds the number to be about 675, a slight increase over the census of last year.

Hays Richards lays claim to the championship belt for slaying the largest number of groundhogs for his season. Thirty-six pigs is the total he has killed. The two largest weighed sixteen pounds each, dressed and ready for the kettle.

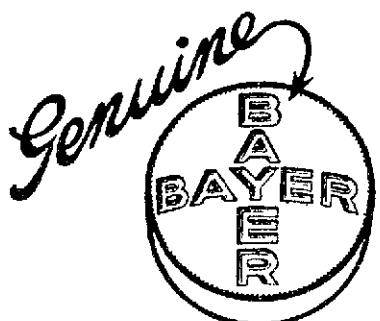

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Norris, Mrs. Jean Rankin and Mr. Lawrence Way, 11 of Pike township, left today by automobile for Berryville, Virginia, which is in the famous Shenandoah valley. The primary object of the trip is a visit to Henry Hile, a brother of the two ladies, whom they have not seen for a good many years. They expect to remain in the South about two weeks.

Watt Thompson, who was a resident of Curwensville for the greater part of his life, now living with his daughter, Mrs. Arch Davidson, near Williamsport, spent the week-end with relatives in town.

Bruce Norris, only son of John W.

HAVE YOUR EYES EXAMINED NOW

The long evenings are just ahead and you're going to want to follow the fortunes of your political favorite through the campaign. To do this with pleasure, you'll want to have your eyes in good shape and I can put them in such condition that you'll enjoy reading.

C. C. ARNOLD,

Norris, who is employed in the Pennsylvania railroad office at Tyrone as a signman, visited his parents over Sunday.

John Carlisle and party drove down from Nant-y-Glo yesterday and spent the day with Mrs. J. M. Carlisle, North Thompson street.

Rev. J. C. Collins returned home from a few days trip and visit to Benecette, El county. His visit to that valley was in the interest of the financial campaign of Dickinson college. He met a bunch of good, whole-souled people who gave their assistance in his work, so that he did not leave them empty-handed.

The bricks have all been lifted from the bed of Fibert street, the ground partially rolled and the putting down of roadbed will follow immediately. Two weeks more ought to complete the work of the entire stretch, from the river bridge to the diamond at junction of State and Fibert streets. It will be a great relief to every one concerned when the road is thrown open for travel, as during the work on it, almost all summer long, proved a detriment to the social and business interests of the town generally.

Many people have asked the question, "What does the brickyard do with all of the coal that is being hauled to the yard?" Well, when a plant like that consumes from 50 to 150 tons per day, the question is easily answered.

Mrs. Clyde Black left yesterday for Pittsburg where she will put in most of the winter months.

Enie Post, one of the town's draymen, has removed from the house he occupied on Thompson street, to his new home across the river, above John McLaughlin's. The house is not fully completed, but he has moved into it anyway.

George L. Benner, attached to the clerical force at the Curwensville National Bank, has gone to his old home in Bethlehem, Pa., where he is spending his vacation with his mother.

The hunters' display window in the Gates hardware store on Fibert street was an attraction which drew the attention and admiration of all those whose ambition is to follow the hunting of wild game.

Harry Shaffer, of DuBois, was a Curwensville visitor yesterday, a guest in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Shaffer on West George street.

A glance into the bowl of the public drinking fountain at the Spencer corner will convince any one that it needs to be cleaned.

The High School football team went to Williamsport Saturday and played a scheduled game with the High School of that city, losing by a 38-0 score. The boys went by auto and were unable to secure any considerable rest before entering the contest. All who witnessed the game declare that the Curwensville boys put up a fine game and kept their opponents busy all the time. The members of the team are becoming seasoned to the work and before the season closes will be in a condition to meet any and all comers on the grid. Curwensville people have not lost faith in the team, but are more than ever determined to have the town placed on the football map. Next Saturday the team jumps to Indiana.

Wednesday night has been the time set by the tribe of Illini Indians for a slaughter of palefaces. The totem has been soured, paw-wows held, totem poles painted and the snake dance performed. Curwensville pioneers and settlers are not alarmed over the signs and smoke warnings, however, as it is only the announcement that some fifty palefaces will become allies of the tribe by adoption and initiation. The new braves will waive the banquet of eating dogs, but probably will be fed with something more palatable and invigorating. Nevertheless it is going to make history for Illini Tribe and will be inscribed on the wampum braves' bark tally sheet as the largest class ever adopted at one single sitting by this tribe.

At a Saturday evening convocation held by the local milkmen of this section it was decided to raise the price of milk from twelve to fourteen cents per quart. High price of feed and little or no pasture brought about the change.

G. Booth, the tragedian (father of Ed. Booth), had a broken nose. A lady once remarked to him, "I like your acting, Mr. Booth, but to be frank with you, I can't quite get over your nose." "No wonder, madam," replied he, "The bridge is gone."

AUTO INDUSTRY IS

automobile tires. Production of plate glass this year should total about 68,000,000 square feet. Nearly one-third of this, or 21,500,000 square feet, will be required for automobiles.

This year 5,400,000 gallons of gasoline will be produced. About 4,320,000,000 gallons, or 80 per cent. of this total, will be used in automobiles.

While over 850,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil will be refined in 1922, only 575,000,000 gallons will be required for domestic consumption. About 230,000,000 gallons, or over 40 per cent., of the domestic consumption will be needed for the operation of automobiles.

About 75,000 bales of Egyptian-type, long staple cotton will be grown in the United States this year while 400,000 bales will be imported from Egypt. About 38 per cent. of this total, or 180,000 bales, will be used in the manufacture of automobile tires.

Any weakness in the market for automotive products will be immediately reflected in the business of all of those industries which depend wholly or in part on the automobile business for a market.

Employs 1,662,000 Wage Earners. With its various subsidiary lines, the automobile business influences the industrial labor market to a more pronounced extent than does any other great industry.

There are 727,000 wage earners, in production, sales and service work, whose income is derived directly from the industry.

In addition to these there are 935,000 other wage earners, who derive their income indirectly from the automobile business. These are drivers and chauffeurs and workers in industries supplying raw materials to manufacturers of automotive products.

Figures for workers in these industries were obtained by multiplying total workers in each of these industries by the percentage of the total output needed for automotive products.

Directly and indirectly the automobile industry influences the employment of 1,662,000 wage earners.

There are approximately 12,750,000 wage earners supported from manufacturing industries or engaged in transportation. Of these, 13 per cent. are dependent upon the automobile business.

(Carries More People Than Railroads. The automobile is today, the leading passenger transportation agency in the United States.

There are today 55,250 railroad passenger coaches, in use, having a capacity of 2,270,000 passengers. The seating capacity of 9,500,000 automobiles now in use is 47,000,000.

Based on records for the past five years, there should be 47,000,000 passenger miles to the credit of rail facilities in 1922. The average number of passengers per automobile is two, and the average annual mileage is six thousand. Hence the automobile must be credited with 114,000,000 passenger miles this year.

The automobile business is the most stable of the great industrial enterprises, because it has been the first to return to normal. The number of automobiles and trucks that will be manufactured this year will be slightly in excess of 2,000,000.

FINDS OLD COIN

Washington, Pa., Oct. 2. (U. P.)—A relic of the old Colonial days, discovered by Henry Platts of Scenery Hill while digging potatoes, is causing much comment here.

Platts found a rare old coin bearing the date of 1761 and the inscription "Georgius III Rex." On the reverse side the lettering and design are partly obliterated. The central figure appears to be a girl playing a harp, surmounted by a crown.

Another relic that Platts found is a large, perfectly preserved flat button. Around the margin of the button in neat script letters are the initials of each of the 13 original colonies while in the center are the initials "G. W." with the words "President of the United States."

Tom Connolly, of Snow Shoe, is spending several days at his home on South Fourth street.

"GREATEST" DANCER IN WORLD DETAINED AT ELLIS ISLAND

New York, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Isadora Duncan, who as the "world's greatest dancer" has been teaching the little Bolsheviks of Russia how to be aesthetic since she left here in 1917, and her dancing partner husband, Serge Effrine, were removed from their luxurious suite on the S. S. Paris today to the detention quarters on Ellis Island, where they will await the action of the Department of Immigration. Isadora stated that her sole purpose in returning to America was to show Americans how to dance and raise funds for Russian child relief. Immigration officials are going to make certain her motives before allowing her to land.

A Plain and Frank Statement by the Milk Producers Association of Why It Is Necessary to Advance the Price of Milk Two Cents Per Quart.

All during the summer the price of farm labor has been kept down to a minimum because of the labor troubles at the mines in the district. To give you an idea of how it works: During the strike at the mines it was possible for the farmers in this section to hire labor on the farms for $45.00 per month and the laborer's board. Since the miners have returned to work it is necessary to pay the same men as high as $3.00 to $4.00 per day and their board for doing the same work as they did during the strike for $45.00 per month.

You can readily see where this labor factor enters into the production of the milk being produced by the farmers of this section and if the price to the consumer is not raised it means that many farmers who are now producing milk on a commercial scale will have to go out of business.

Again, the farmer of this section has gone through a period of very high production costs due to weather conditions. On account of the long drouth the pasturage has dried to the extent where it is a negligible quantity. This necessitates the feeding of cows from the stores of grains, silage and other things which should not have been called for until much later in the season.

It is the purpose of the Clearfield County Milk Producers Association to produce only the highest quality of milk for consumption in and around Clearfield and, rather than let the quality deteriorate, it was planned, after a thorough investigation of facts and figures produced by the members, to make this slight advance in price.

ON AND AFTER SUNDAY, OCTOBER 1ST, ALL MILK DELIVERED BY THE CLEARFIELD DAIRY COMPANY WILL BE DELIVERED AT THE RATE OF FOURTEEN CENTS PER QUART.

BANKERS OF U. S. SEE BIG BUSINESS BUT LITTLE BOOM

New York, Oct. 1.—The American Bankers' Association convention here this week has drawn from all sections of the country many hundreds of men who through their close banking contract with business can speak intimately of business conditions. Tersely summarized, their view is that there is great business ahead, but no boom. The hotels are well filled for the sessions, which begin today. 10,000 are in attendance.

Opposition to Branch Banks

Independent bankers representing all sections of the country met in preliminary session today and planned a campaign to put the gathering on record against the establishment of branch banks by the larger national banking houses.

Anti-branch bank headquarters have been established in the Biltmore Hotel by the Chicago and Cook

County Bankers' Association. It was decided to attempt to induce the convention to pass a resolution opposing the branch bank plan, by which national banks in the larger cities may maintain establishments in other cities and towns. They also will see to have the body disapprove the alleged support of this plan by D. R. Crissinger, comptroller of the Treasury. Bankers of the larger cities are expected to attack such resolutions vigorously.

A Sound Position

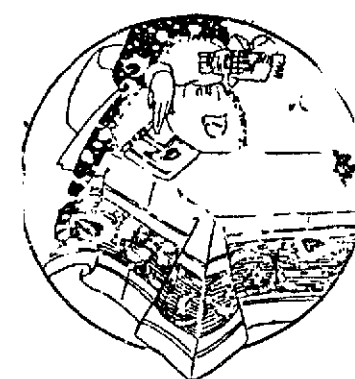

America is blessed with a beautiful harvest, says Thomas B. McAdam, vice president of the Merchants' National Bank, of Richmond, and president of the American Bankers' Association. "New wealth and an immense food supply have been produced," he says, "and fundamentally we are in a sound financial position and can look forward to increase in commerce and industry, provided carelessness and selfishness are not allowed to undermine the stability of our citizenship.

C. F. Loree, President of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, was the principal speaker today. He urged state supervision over strike balloting in union labor circles, saying there was no secrecy of the ballot, intimidation was practiced and no protection given the public in a matter in which they were vitally interested. He gave it as his opinion that strike ballot results did not always truly reflect the desires of the worker.

Beacon Lights of Business

Along perilous coasts, lighthouses throw their guiding rays far into the night to warn the mariners and help them safely past the shoals.

Business, too, has its beacons. They are the advertisements, which throw a powerful light to guide you in your buying. They show you what to buy, where to buy and when to buy.

Spend a few minutes a day running through the advertisements in this paper. Then buy the products that have proved up in the light of advertising.

Merchants and manufacturers who advertise deliberately focus thousands of eyes on their products. Their wares must be good, their values honest and their prices right or they could not advertise successfully.

In the advertisements you see products that have made good under the critical inspection of buyers. These products are full value products. They return you dollar for dollar. Buy them.

Let the beacon of advertising guide you as it is guiding so many astute buyers.

Then you can know that every cent you spend buys its full quota of value.

PINCHOT OUT FLAT FOOTED AGAINST WONER DRY LAW

Wants State Law That
Will Dovetail With the
Volstead Law In Every Possible Prosecution.

PLEDGE TO WOMEN

Williamsport, Pa., Sept. 30.—Gifford Pinchot tonight assured the convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union that when he is Governor the neutral zone between State and national prohibition enforcement provided by the Woner act would be removed. The Republican nominee said he purposed to abolish the zone in which law breaking flourishes by bringing about repeal of the Brooks High License Act and its paradoxical amendment, the Woner act.

Women Ask Explicit Question
Both Mr. Pinchot and his Democratic opponent addressed the W. C. T. U. convention. To each of them was addressed the following question by Mrs. Ella M. George, State President:

If elected Governor of Pennsylvania will you advocate and support the repeal of the Brooks License Law and the Woner act and the passage of an enforcement measure to harmonize State legislation with Federal enactment upon the liquor issues.

Mr. Pinchot's answer was short and to the point. Without digressing from the subject of prohibition enforcement, he said:

"It is not enough to be 'dry' when you are with dry people in dry territory. The man who really stands with those who oppose the liquor traffic is as dry in wet surroundings as he is in a W. C. T. U. convention. There are two sides to this question. One is the law; the other is the enforcement of the law.

"I am for the abolition of the licensed saloon and I hope to see during my term as Governor the last saloon disappear from Pennsylvania soil. For that purpose we must repeal the Brooks law as amended by the Woner bill and put the law in Pennsylvania as squarely in accord with the Volstead act and the Eighteenth Amendment. The way to put an end to licensed saloons is to take away the power to license.

Joint Concern in State and Nation

"The enforcement of the Volstead act is the joint concern of the State and the Nation. Authority to carry out its provisions, therefore, does not lie solely with the State Government. The officials of the State, however, can and should co-operate to the fullest extent with the national prohibition enforcement in particular to see to it that there is no neutral zone between the activities of the two in which law breaking can flourish.

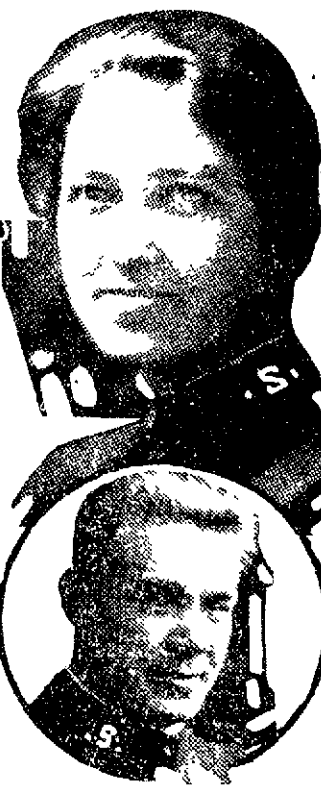

"I am pledged to use all the power of the governorship to prevent and punish bootlegging. That I will do." Mr. McSparran's answer to the same query was simply a promise to enforce the present laws.

FIND BLOODY KNIFE NEAR SCENE OF THE HALL-MILLS MURDER

New Brunswick, N. J., Oct. 2.—A blood-stained butcher knife found in the vicinity of the mysterious Hall-Mills murder which has baffled the best brains of the criminologists was carefully examined by officers today. The knife and the only man who knows anything about it was thoroughly examined in regard to it. The knife was found in a shack on the deserted Phillips farm which is occupied by a farm hand. It is an old-fashioned butcher knife of a kind that could have been used in the slaying of Mrs. Mills' throat. It was found by state troopers sent to the scene of the crime under orders from Governor Edwards in response to the plea of Charlotte Mills, daughter of the murdered woman, who made a plea to the governor that state aid be given in the search for the murderer.

The farm hand was severely grilled but maintained that the knife had been used in butchering and then never cleaned. The blood stain on the knife will be analyzed in an effort to determine whether the stain is human or animal blood.

AUTO INDUSTRY IS BIGGEST BUSINESS IN ALL THE WORLD

Analysis of Information
Gained From Govt.
Sources Discloses Some
Very Important Facts.

EMPLOYS 1,662,000

Analysis of information secured through Governmental sources discloses that the automobile industry is the largest manufacturing enterprise in the world.

Thirty years ago, Bryce in his classic treatise on the American Commonwealth referred to America's great railway system as the means of communication that held this country together and rendered it one for all social, political and commercial purposes.

"During the past decade," says the October issue of the Automobile Trade Journal, "another great advance in inter-communication has been made. The automobile marks the most successful attempt to provide 'individual transportation' since the first cave-man harnessed the progenitor of the modern horse and thereby supplied himself with a means of travel afield."

The tremendous growth of the automobile industry in recent years is due solely to the fact that it has supplied a public need.

Far Greater Than Steel and Iron.

The value of the 1922 automotive output will be approximately as follows:

Automobiles	$1,350,000,000
Tires	675,000,000
Replacement parts	575,000,000
Accessories	150,000,000
Total	$2,725,000,000

This total is 33 per cent greater than the value of the output in the second largest industry, the refining of petroleum (65 per cent of which is used by automobiles), 65 per cent greater than the value of the iron and steel output, and more than twice the value of all cotton goods produced in the textile mills of the country.

Affects Many Basic Industries.

The automobile business is the most essential of our manufacturing industries, because it directly affects a greater number of what might be termed "basic" industries, than does any other manufacturing enterprise.

Annual imports of crude rubber into the United States are now 600,000,000 pounds per annum. Of this total, 81 per cent or 490,000,000 pounds, will be required this year for (Continued on Page Five)

STATE'S MEDICOES ANNUAL MEETING IS BEING HELD TODAY

Scranton, Pa., Oct. 2. (U. P.)—More than 1,500 physicians, their wives and friends were present when the 72nd annual conference of the State Medical Society of Pennsylvania opened in the Thirteenth Regiment Armory here today.

Four separate sessions will get under way at the armory simultaneously each day. The conference will be divided into four sections—surgery, medicine, children's diseases and ear, eye, nose and throat affections. Doctors specializing in each branch will give lectures.

A mammoth exhibition of drugs, surgical instruments and the latest inventions in the world of medicine occupy a greater portion of the armory main floor. The public will be admitted to this exhibition.

The convention proper opened today at 10 o'clock with an address of welcome by Mayor John Durkan. An elaborate entertainment program has been arranged for the delegates.

The big social function of the convention will be a reception for Dr. Lawrence Litchfield, of Pittsburgh, president elect of the organization at the armory Wednesday night.

Dr. Ernest LaPlante of Philadelphia will lecture on "The World's greatest benefactor, Louis Pasteur" on Thursday evening.

The convention is scheduled to end at midnight, October 5th.

Philipsburg Miner Is
Lucky Enough To Be
Blown Out of Range of
40 Dynamite Sticks.

THREE ARE HURT

Philipsburg people, as well as those in the near-by surrounding region, were startled and for a bit mystified by terrific explosion that jolted buildings and rattled windows in all directions, about 7 o'clock Friday evening.

Immediately following the explosion the fire alarm was sounded, the clocks in the Hope and Reliance fire building indicating the alarm had been turned in from box 41; which is at Eleventh and Cherry streets. Hundreds of people in motor cars and on foot followed the fire engines to the Third Ward where, at the home of William Schiele, on Twelfth street, a small building, standing in the rear of the lot, had been blown to bits by an explosion of dynamite, and the windows of nearby houses broken and plaster in some of them jolted from walls and ceilings.

Three persons were injured and taken to the Cottage State hospital. They were:

William Schiele, 32 years old, severely burned on the body, face and hands.

Allen Smiley, 25 years old, an abrasion of the cheek, neck and forehead.

George Mayes, 50 years old, laceration on the palm of the hand.

According to a statement made at the hospital by Mr. Schiele he had filled his powder can from the keg kept in the small building. As it was dark or nearly so, he used a match. A piece of the burnt match fell into the loose powder, which blew up, setting fire to Schiele's clothing. He ran toward the house, shouting for assistance. Neighbors responded, and as the small building was afire from the powder, Allen Smiley and George Mayes ran toward it to extinguish the flames, having secured a couple of vessels of water.

Mr. Schiele shouted that there was dynamite in the building. The warning came too late. Both men were only a short distance from it when the dynamite exploded with a deafening report, the powder having set fire to paper kept for mine shooting, the flames eventually reaching mine caps presumably and thus setting off the dynamite.

Smiley was struck by pieces of flying timbers, as was also Mayes. Schiele's injuries were mostly from the burning powder. Schiele and Smiley were both reported in an improved condition this morning and Mayes was enabled to leave the hospital Friday night after his injuries were attended to. Mrs. Nina Schiele, mother of William Schiele, one of the injured men, suffered much from shock and fright. She and her son lived together.

The barn and chicken house of Mike Hondoga, next to the Schiele property was badly damaged. His house was also badly jolted and windows broken. The Schiele residence was much damaged, pictures having been shaken from the walls, plaster jarred loose and window lights shattered. The Lupton home, a brick residence standing in rear of the scene of the explosion, had many broken windows. Indeed, few of the houses in that part of town escaped damage altogether.

It is said there was about forty pounds of dynamite in the explosion, though the report has not been verified.

Schiele and Smiley are miners and Mayes is an ice deliveryman.

WATER SITUATION REVIEWED; SHOWS NO CAUSE FOR IMMEDIATE CONCERN

Another week has gone by without a drop of rain, and while the weather, man again promises us a week of fair weather, with "probable showers," there is really no hope of the drouth breaking for the immediate present at least.

On occasions or during conditions such as have been confronting Clearfield and the patrons of the Clearfield Water Company various disturbing rumors, 99 per cent of which are absolutely without foundation and only seek to worry and annoy the timorous or uninformed, are put in circulation. There has been an extra large stock of these baseless and annoying stories current in Clearfield since the water got low, and while hardly to be dignified by a denial are entitled to this refutation because of their persistent circulation and the tendency of some people to believe such rot as we have in mind.

In order to check up on the water situation in Clearfield and for the purpose of giving the true state of the facts, we investigated all the "wild rumors" rampant about the town in some quarters and in the course of that investigation kept tab on the quantity of water in reserve in the Montgomery reservoir, together with a check as near as possible from observation just how much that reserve was depleted by one week's consumption.

That investigation disclosed that on Saturday, September 23d, there was a reserve supply of approximately 45,000,000 gallons of water, with an estimated inflow of between 400,000 and 500,000 gallons per 24-hour day. The daily consumption of water by the patrons of the water company ranged between 1,500,000 and 1,750,000 gallons, with the result that on Saturday, September 30th, the reserve supply in the reservoir amounted to 40,000,000 or a total depletion for the week of 5,000,000 gallons.

It is only necessary to add that at the rate of consumption the "hard water" there is enough water on hand at the reservoir to last us at least eight weeks without a drop of rain. Therefore the futility of being disturbed by wild rumors should be apparent to all.

On Sunday morning the gauge in the office of the water company showed a pressure of 65 pounds, which should and no doubt did ensure water for all consumers of the company, except those few on the very highest points about the town.

That more or less discomfort and inconvenience will be caused water consumers locally by the long continued dry spell is to be expected; let us bear with same with the good grace the serious situation requires, remembering that every drop of water we waste will be just that much denied some person or family that need it. Remember, too, that in many sections of Clearfield county, water for stock and domestic consumption is being hauled distances ranging from one-half up to five miles.

This is the time to be sensible and reasonable regarding the water situation in Clearfield. Let us all try to be so, even tho it hurts.

CONSUL B. F. CHASE RETURNS HOME

Hon. Benjamin F. Chase, United States Consul at Messina, Italy, for the past year, and who has been in the Consular service for the past ten or more years, arrived home at noon yesterday.

Consul Chase is thinking seriously of severing his connection with the Consular Service, and is said to be considering a business proposition in an adjoining State.

He was met at the train yesterday by Mrs. Chase who came here from her home in Erie, where she had been visiting.

QUAIL VISIT SEWICKLEY

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 2. (U. P.)—For the first time in years, the people of Sewickley can say that a covey of quail visited the town.

They are still wondering though, what induced the birds to alight on the lawn adjoining the municipal building. About fifteen of them settled down on the lawn and remained there, the center of interest throughout the day, until a negro, Allan Gibson, shot one of the birds, frightening the rest of them away. Gibson was arrested and fined $10.

FIRST JOINT MEET UNDER CLEVELAND AGREEMENT TODAY

Three Major Proposals
Must Be Determined On
Before Actual Work of
Scale Making Begins.

HOW TO PROCEED

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 2.—Bituminous coal operators and miners assembled here today to take action to avert another nationwide strike of coal miners next April 1st, when the present Cleveland scale expires. The assembled delegates have three propositions before them which they will endeavor to settle on before the end of the session so that the provisions of the agreement made a month ago will be carried out. These propositions are outlined by President John Lewis today were:

First, the naming of a joint committee to investigate the coal industry from all angles.

Second, the naming of a joint committee to formulate methods of negotiating a new scale to take the place of the one which will expire April 1st, 1923.

Third, to determine the procedure for the joint committee of inquiry so that it will not conflict with the coal commission to be appointed by President Harding.

Clearfield Will Be Represented At Group Meeting On Seal Sale

Altoona, Pa., Oct. 2.—The last of five sectional conferences to make plans for the 1922 Christmas Seal sale will be held at the Hotel Penn Alto next Wednesday, October 4th.

The Pennsylvania Tuberculosis Society will be in charge of the conference. S. M. Sharpe will represent the National Tuberculosis Association.

The tuberculosis organizations in the southwestern and central sections of the State will be represented including the following counties—Blair, Huntingdon, Fulton, Mifflin, Juniata, Peerry, Bedford, Somerset, Fayette, Greene, Washington, Westmoreland, Cambria, Armstrong, Indiana, Jefferson, Clearfield, Center, Beaver.

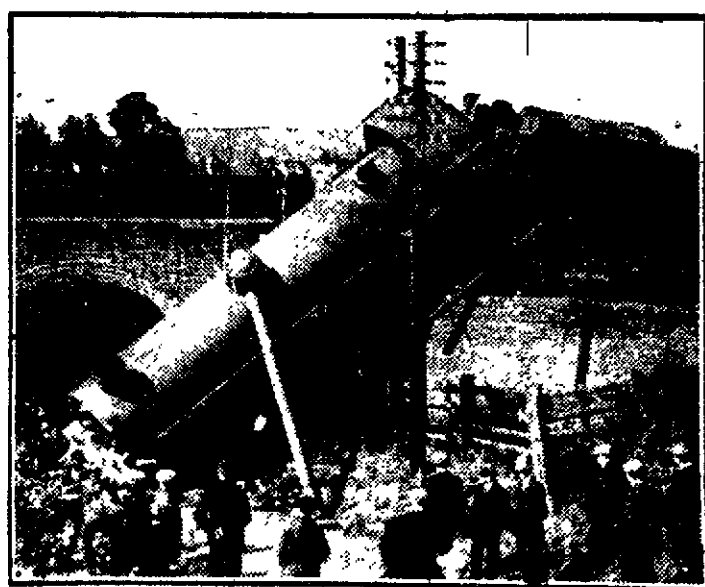

Sectional Seal conferences have already been held at Philadelphia, Scranton, Williamsport and Erie.

WILL ERECT BUSINESS BUILDING

The tearing down and removal of the double frame house, formerly the Finkbeiner bakery property, at the corner of Third and Locust streets, was begun this morning. This property was recently purchased by Earl Smith from S. L. Driggs.

It is Mr. Smith's intention to erect on that site a four-story brick building. He will occupy the lower floor with his music store and devote the other floors to residence flats.

PRESIDENT OF U. S. AND GOVERNORS AID STATE'S BIG DRIVE

State College, Pa., Oct. 2.—President Harding, Governor Sprout, U. S. Commissioner of Education J. T. Tigert and a dozen heads of State Universities to the south and west of Pennsylvania have sent messages wishing President John M. Thomas, of the Pennsylvania State College, success in the $2,000,000 emergency building fund campaign for student health and welfare buildings that was launched today by alumni in all parts of the State and country.

The importance of State College as a service institution to the people of Pennsylvania, in its possible position as the State university, is the keynote of the many telegrams that have flooded the office of President Thomas in the past three days. In a letter to Dr. Thomas, President Harding said: "I wish you all success in your undertaking to persuade the people of Pennsylvania to follow the example of every State west of them to provide a free institution of higher learning ample to meet the needs of the commonwealth."

Governor Sprout wired the Penn State executive yesterday expressing sincere wishes for success in the $2,000,000 campaign, and "The aim to raise Penn State to the level with its sister institutions in other States, and to make available to the sons and daughters of Pennsylvania the best possible free higher education must have the hearty approval of all other citizens of our commonwealth."

That Penn State's legislative support is "paltry" as compared to that given the University of Michigan is the opinion of Dr. M. L. Burton, president of that institution, who wired that his university received $11,000,000 for the present biennium. President Walter Hüllihen, of the University of Delaware wired that the legislature of that State provides twice as much for its State institution in proportion to the number of students as does Pennsylvania.

In his message today to President Thomas, Commissioner Tigert said: "I hope that the appropriation for Penn State College will be increased to a figure at least proportionate to that received by leading State universities of the nation. Pennsylvania is one of our wealthiest States and there is no reason why its institution of higher learning should not rank with the very best in America. It should be a matter of pride to appropriate sufficient money to accomplish this purpose."

Messages also came from President

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP WITH SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching, eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream. (adv.)

PRESCRIPTION ACCURACY

There's a vast difference between good enough and exactly right. The latter's the way everything must be when we fill that prescription that the doctor writes for you when he gives something for the alleviation of pain.

The unerring accuracy of our prescription service is earning for us an enviable reputation and we must live up to it.

A JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to article nine, section four, of the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following amendment to the Constitution of Pennsylvania be, and the same is hereby proposed, in accordance with the eighteenth article thereof:—

That section four of article nine, which reads as follows:

"Section 4. No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State, except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue, repel invasion, suppress insurrection, defend the State in war, or to pay existing debt; and the debt created to supply deficiencies in revenue shall never exceed in the aggregate at any one time, one million dollars; Provided, however, That the General Assembly, irrespective of any debt, may authorize the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the Commonwealth," be amended so as to read as follows:

State's aims in the first campaign ever attempted by the college were given in a few words by President Thomas this morning when he said: "We seek only to give every Pennsylvania boy and girl who desires it, and who proves he is worthy of it, a just opportunity to obtain a higher education, and to give that maximum of service to the people of the commonwealth that residents of other States enjoy from their State universities. Our students now must have the health and welfare buildings that the fund will provide, and we look to the State to provide the facilities that will enable us to give all an equal chance in future development as the Pennsylvania State University."

Section 4. No debt shall be created by or on behalf of the State, except to supply casual deficiencies of revenue, repel invasion, suppress insurrection, defend the State in war, or to pay existing debt; and the debt created to supply deficiencies in revenue shall never exceed, in the aggregate at any one time, one million dollars; Provided, however, That the General Assembly, irrespective of any debt, may authorize the State to issue bonds to the amount of fifty millions of dollars for the purpose of improving and rebuilding the highways of the Commonwealth; Provided further, however, That the General Assembly, irrespective of any debt, may authorize the State to issue bonds to the amount of thirty-five millions of dollars for the payment of compensation to certain persons from the State who served in the Army, Navy, or Marine Corps of the United States, during the World War, between the sixth day of April, one thousand nine hundred and sixteen, and the eleventh day of November, one thousand nine hundred and eighteen.

Section 2. Said proposed amendment shall be submitted to the qualified electors of the State, at the general election to be held on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in the year nineteen hundred and twenty-four, for the purpose of deciding upon the approval and ratification or the rejection of said amendment. Said election shall be opened, held, and closed upon election day at the places and within the hours at and within which said election is directed to be opened, held, and closed, and in accordance with the provisions of the laws of Pennsylvania governing elections. Such amendment shall be printed upon the ballots in the form and manner prescribed by the election laws of Pennsylvania, and shall in all respects conform to the requirements of such laws.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

The present dry spell has served to demonstrate to Clearfield people the exceptional water facilities our town possesses. With every town and hamlet in this section of the State in serious straits for water, patrons of the Clearfield Water Company, with but a rare exception, have an abundance of purest water for their needs. Certainly a condition to be thankful for.

Raffaello Luffellett, a young Italian resident of Clearfield for the past fifteen years, a World War ex-service man, with a record for sobriety, industry and clean living, has reason to believe that republics or commonwealths are more or less ungrateful. Luffellett, despite the fact that he was an alien when the war came, patriotically waived his rights as an alien, responded to Uncle Sam's call and went overseas in 1918 as a part of that splendid army of two million men, which helped very materially to put the Kaiser on his back. After he came home Luffellett fell in love with Miss Viola Vallmont, an East End girl, who had been employed at the Clearfield Overall Factory. The girl looked with favor upon the young man's suit and Dan Cupid managed to find time between times, as it were, to put over the "knockout punch" and despite uncompromising parents of the lady, a trip was made to Cumberland, Md., on August 9th and that evening the two loving hearts were made one by an obliging preacher.

Upon their return "love's young dream" was rudely shattered when the bride mother-in-law invoked the aid of the great Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and the happy groom was cast into prison as a felon and at last week's criminal court a jury of nine men and three women said Luffellett was guilty of marrying a girl not quite sixteen without having secured the consent of her parents. This, too, despite the fact that the bride tearfully took the stand and testified in favor of her husband, whom she dearly loves.

How soon are promises forgotten. We sent Luffellett away from Clearfield "with a smile" in 1918 and in 1922 we fire him into a prison cell, where he now awaits sentence—to the penitentiary, too, if it please the Court to do so. And what is his crime? Does the State of Pennsylvania or Clearfield county aim to set itself up, with its courts and laws, to determine who and when and why and how two young people shall fall in love and marry. Young Luffellett was honorable in his love-making, his bride is satisfied with his love and his ability to provide for her—which she thinks would be better than a life of toil in the Overall Factory. Isn't it a serious matter under such circumstances to invoke musty times and try to put asunder what God has bound together, when both parties to the compact are satisfied. With the change of one small letter "prosecution" becomes "persecution".

Luffellett has more coming to him from the Commonwealth of Penna., than a prison term for marrying the girl of his choice and it appears to us that, all other efforts being futile, it is up to his buddies of the American Legion to rally to his defense and ask Judge Bell and District Attorney Arnold to exercise the fullest measure of leniency toward him. He ought not to be in jail one minute, but he is there right now.

The Dull Point.

It is hard work to plow with a dull point. Can't do as good a job, either. There is a man downtown that is waiting to sell you a new point. That is the way the world's business is kept up. You need the new point; he needs the dollar you pay him for it. —Baron Life.

Brown October Days And The Gifts That Last

The brown October days are here and with it comes the distinctly October trend in the Gifts that Last. There is just as much timeliness in gifts as there is to the style of your dress or suit.

And you'll find that we have here a very fine display of the things that go to make up an October gift list. There are things for personal adornment, there are things for the dressing up of your home, there are things for dressing your table.

But lest you get the idea that everything 'round a jewelry store is high priced, we want to impress on you the fact that we are out of the high rent district and prices are lower accordingly. It'll pay you to take the few steps 'round the corner.

A university professor who has just returned from a stay in Constantinople is quoted as declaring that the Turk is "dignified, refined, well-bred,"—quite the reverse of the popular conception of him.

Unfortunately, in the same newspaper, stretched in great black letters clear across the front page was the caption, "Turks Massacre 1,000 Christians," and the article which followed contained particularly revolting details. It is hard to believe that these could have been perpetrated by anyone "dignified, refined and well-bred."

It is easy to understand that the impression of the Constantinople Turk was shaped somewhat by the allied armies camping outside the walls, and by soldiers of the allies who patrolled the streets. Perhaps a sportsmanlike impulse to take the part of the attacked prompted this defense. Perhaps it was only inaccurate observation. At any rate, the witness of all the Turkish atrocities in history disproves this assertion. Mercy should sometimes temper justice, but never sentimentalism. If the Turk is guilty, he should be judged accordingly.

"The only trouble with the Turk is his inherent passion for fighting," continues the professor. Also, it might be added, his methods of fighting. But does not this trouble indicate an unpleasant character behind the fighting?

Perhaps the Turk can be changed. Perhaps his religion is at fault, or perhaps his government. Meanwhile, until the influences which mold his character are radically changed, he had better be put into a position where he can work no more mischief.

LAND WITHOUT STRIKES

It is said that when the doctor from civilization landed upon barbarous shores, bringing the blessings of its cures and remedies to the unenlightened tribes, he first had to introduce the diseases that the cures might be effected.

One cannot call Siam exactly barbarous or uncivilized, but the Siamese government is afraid that the same situation threatens in regard to labor. The International Labor Office of the League of Nations at Geneva has requested a number of nations to join in legislation protecting laboring people, and Siam is included in the list. The ministry of justice, however, had declined, on the ground that there is no labor dissatisfaction in Siam.

It must excite a great deal of surprise that there is yet a country in the world where labor troubles are unknown. Living is cheap, according to the government report. Laborers are satisfied with both wages and hours. There are neither unions nor employers' associations. Strikes and lockouts are unknown. This is a country worth looking into!

So the League of Nations is already seen in the role of imposing laws where they are not needed. They would be not only superfluous but distinctly harmful. Instead of the world teaching Siam a lesson in industrial systems, it might be more appropriate for the world to take a lesson from Siam. How does she do it?

UNHEEDED WARNINGS

"Vesuvius will be in a state of active eruption within two or three years," says Professor Henry S. Washington of the Carnegie Institute, who has just returned from Italy. "When I left Naples, the crater of the volcano had filled up from a depth of 1,200 feet to within 300 feet of the rim."

Will this warning of impending disaster bring consternation to the inhabitants of the villages on the sides of Mt. Vesuvius, causing them to flee to a place of safety while there is yet time? It will not. In spite of the fact that Vesuvius is the best advertised volcano in the world, and one of the most destructive, there are numerous towns and villages clustered around the base and on the sides of the mountain. Excavations at Pompeii have shown that not one city but a series have been buried beneath volcanic ashes at that spot.

Through ignorance or sheer inertia, thousands of people will continue to court disaster by living on the edge of the volcano. It is a habit which appears to be an instinct in the human race. Again and again in the world's history the great volcano of war has poured forth destruction upon the human race, yet it continues to dwell on the dangerous ground of hatred and suspicion and mutual antagonism.

Either some means must be found to extinguish the volcano, or the race must move forward a great deal.

GREECE-D!

WHAT PENNSYLVANIA NEEDS IN EDUCATION

By Dr. John M. Thomas, President Of The Pennsylvania State College

WHAT SHALL IT PROFIT A MAN? What advantage to a man to succeed in business if he fails at home? What shall it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose the soul of his boy? What shall it profit a great strong state to become first in industry and to be excelled by none in wealth, if it deny fair and equal opportunity to its oncoming youth?

The second decade in the twentieth century has brought about a renaissance of American education. The first years of the decade, inaugurating a period of genuine improvement, were followed by the years of war, when the Government showed in more way than one how much it depended upon the schools for the training of those who were to serve. The conclusion of the war saw the schools more in demand than ever. Education shined in the triumph. In the year following the war the enrollment in the colleges and universities increased about 25 per cent. over the enrollment of the last preceding normal year.

But we have not, in any state, arrived at a point where we may rest upon our laurels. In Pennsylvania, we must still work for improvement of our primary, our secondary, and our higher educational institutions. More schools, and especially more vocational schools, and more and better trained teachers are our greatest needs.

According to the most recent census compilation, only three states in the New England, Middle Atlantic and North Central group had a lower percentage of children in school than Pennsylvania. There has undoubtedly been improvement in the position of this state since that result was shown and it is certain that we should see to it that the largest possible proportion of our children between six and fourteen years of age should be in school.

High schools in Pennsylvania have been almost entirely a development of the last quarter of a century. In the last dozen years the attendance at these schools has doubled, and the junior high school has been introduced. At the same time the quality of the teaching given has improved at almost equal pace. In 1909, fifty per cent of the teachers had a normal school training or less. Ten years later, sixty-five per cent of them had college degrees and at the present time, due to legislation passed within the past three years, teachers in greater numbers than ever before, are preparing, through work of college grade, to secure permanent teaching certificates.

Still Something Lacking

But after all necessary improvements have been made in the elementary and secondary education in Pennsylvania, there is still something lacking.

This state, at the present time has no state university. With every state to the west and every commonwealth to the south in possession of such an institution, Pennsylvania's educational system cannot be considered complete until there is placed at the apex of her public school system an institution of higher learning giving work of university grade in its several schools. It is true that the Pennsylvania State College is now all but in name a state university. With its five schools and its several departments, it is already doing what the great universities in other states are doing for the people in their districts. These institutions, owned by the commonwealths in which they are situated, and controlled by the people, are fully a part of the public school system. They offer such vocational courses as the boys and girls of today need and demand. They engage in research, not on problems which learned professors might be most interested in, but on practical problems pressing for solution in science, agriculture and industry. They conduct a vast amount of extension work, taking the knowledge of the laboratories and the classrooms into the homes where people live.

Such an institution this state should have, and plans are now under way for its development. The logical place for the Pennsylvania State University is at State College, at the exact geological center of the State, where, for over 60 years, earnest and devoted men have been laying the foundations of such an institution. Here we have a plant and equipment valued at four millions of dollars. We have the constitution and organization of a state university. What is most important we have the tradition of being an institution fully under the control of the State and responsive to its needs.

Start Improvement At Top

If we are to continue the improvement of our public school system, we must now begin at the top, just as you would do in business. If you have a run-down enterprise to renovate, you do not start by getting a new janitor, but by getting a new manager.

Leaders Needed

The establishment of a first-class university in Pennsylvania would be of great benefit to the agricultural, commercial, and industrial interests of the state. We have the resources, but our great need is men. We cannot have too great a supply of leaders in industry. It will be the business of the State University to supply such leaders, and every man of masterly power produced will create opportunities for many others. The supply of doctors and lawyers may reach the saturation point, but when Bell invented the telephone and when Edison perfected the electric light, they sounded the call for men to apply their inventions to human life.

There is no unconquerable difficulty to be overcome to bring about the planned transformation into a State University. Governor Sprout, in October of last year, endorsed the program for development, and Dr. Thomas F. Finegan, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, on the same occasion, gave his support to the plan for a state university and said that it was his belief that there would be no opposition to the plan from any quarter.

The increased facilities of State College, as it develops into a state university, will be a great boon to the boys and girls of the state who beseege us for admission, but whom we are now obliged to refuse at the rate of one thousand a year. Certainly such a situation is not right in a great state like Pennsylvania, where the boys and girls are our chief interest.

What advantage to a man to succeed in business if he fails at home? What shall it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose the soul of his boy? What shall it profit a great, strong state to become first in industry and to be excelled by none in wealth, if it deny fair and equal opportunity to its oncoming youth?

WEST SIDE M. E. CHURCH RALLY DAY

To those present it was again evident the direful need of a new church to accommodate and satisfactorily instruct and train the boys and girls of this growing church. Every available space for seating was occupied and many standing.

The aim of this Rally Day was 100 per cent attendance of officers, teachers and scholars. The enrollment is 779, excluding the Home and Cradle Roll Departments. The attendance was 708 or almost 91 per cent.

Again the Men's Bible class revealed its interest in the church's work by the splendid attendance of 91. This class is commanding the best its teacher—the pastor—can give.

Special features were the singing of little Miss Eliose Reutter of Cuyahoga, who captivated and charmed all hearers by her two selections. Prof. Shaffer as usual, rendered a splendid violin solo, manifesting his ability as an artist on this instrument.

The twenty-seven girls and boys of the Primary department were occupants of the pulpit platform, while the other members of that and the Beginner's Departments stood in the middle aisle. The pastor welcomed them into the Junior Department thru appropriate words and the presentation of certificates of promotion. The main auditorium is now filled with classes and it will be a problem for the Superintendent H. L. Shaw and his co-laborers to find place to accommodate these new recruits.

The members of the West Side church are living constantly in the hope that ere long they may be the possessors of the kind of a Temple worthy of the God they love, and requisite to the needs of the youth, who look toward and come to this place of worship.

TRINITY CHURCH NOTES

Before the Bible School yesterday, Missionary Superintendent H. B. Powell, Jr., assisted by Miss Maude Powell's class, presented a fine and informing program. H. B. Jones, superintendent of the Emporium Methodist School, was among the visitors. He addressed the school. Both attendance and offering exceeded last year's record largely.

Special music was arranged for the public worship at both the morning and evening services. The exposition of the startling words of Malachi, 4:1-2, held the attention of the people, for there was a modernness in the message that fixes the truth in Clearfield. The principle set forth in Hebrews 3:1-6 was studied at night from several angles, the application being made to young and old in their treatment of Christ or their dependence on those that compete in their lives with Him.

This week's events. Monday, parsonage, League cabinet. Wednesday auditorium, mid-week congregational gathering, neighboring Methodist churches notified. Echo of Bishop Fisher's wonderful address on "The Living Christ in the Modern World." Friday, 4 p. m. Junior League. Visitation on and south of Orden avenue.

PROVING RELIGION

To many people their religion is a myth, or at best an accepted belief blindly tolerated and not questioned for fear of becoming a doubter and cynic. That there is no need for the acceptance of religion on any such basis when facts exist by which a religion can be proven just as surely as a mathematician proves a solution of a given problem is the purpose of Dr. E. C. Reeve in a series of sermons, the first of which was delivered last night.

Dr. Reeve proved the fact of sin in our religion by the results of sin, pointing out that every sin carried with it a certain punishment, oftentimes delayed, but sure to follow. Applying the theory of cause and effect Dr. Reeve gave an interesting discourse which will be followed next Sunday evening on the Fact of the existence of Christ.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS

CURWENSVILLE

Owing to a fluke at the Clearfield, The Progress did not arrive in Curwensville until Sunday morning.

Last Friday evening after The Progress letter had been deposited in the box for the morning mail, the reporter discovered something unusual going on at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kirk. Saturday upon inquiry he discovered that the event was a party held in honor of their son Henry Kirk's thirteenth birthday. Some two score of his young friends had been invited and were present to enjoy the festivities of the evening. A fine line of refreshments was served at the close of the evening.

quire James C. Bloom, who has been rusticated on a farm not far from Potstown during the summer months, returned to his home in this place last Friday evening. He is an old farmer and the smell and taint of the harvest time still dwells within his system. He was considerably improved by his vacation outing.

Census Taker Mullen has gone over the borough and finished counting the children of school age. He finds the number to be about 675, a slight increase over the census of last year.

Hays Richards lays claim to the championship belt for slaying the largest number of groundhogs for his season. Thirty-six pigs is the total he has killed. The two largest weighed sixteen pounds each, dressed and ready for the kettle.

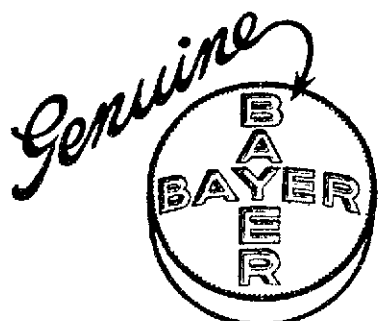

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Norris, Mrs. Jean Rankin and Mr. Lawrence Way, 11 of Pike township, left today by automobile for Berryville, Virginia, which is in the famous Shenandoah valley. The primary object of the trip is a visit to Henry Hile, a brother of the two ladies, whom they have not seen for a good many years. They expect to remain in the South about two weeks.

Watt Thompson, who was a resident of Curwensville for the greater part of his life, now living with his daughter, Mrs. Arch Davidson, near Williamsport, spent the week-end with relatives in town.

Bruce Norris, only son of John W.

HAVE YOUR EYES EXAMINED NOW

The long evenings are just ahead and you're going to want to follow the fortunes of your political favorite through the campaign. To do this with pleasure, you'll want to have your eyes in good shape and I can put them in such condition that you'll enjoy reading.

C. C. ARNOLD,

Norris, who is employed in the Pennsylvania railroad office at Tyrone as a signman, visited his parents over Sunday.

John Carlisle and party drove down from Nant-y-Glo yesterday and spent the day with Mrs. J. M. Carlisle, North Thompson street.

Rev. J. C. Collins returned home from a few days trip and visit to Benecette, El county. His visit to that valley was in the interest of the financial campaign of Dickinson college. He met a bunch of good, whole-souled people who gave their assistance in his work, so that he did not leave them empty-handed.

The bricks have all been lifted from the bed of Fibert street, the ground partially rolled and the putting down of roadbed will follow immediately. Two weeks more ought to complete the work of the entire stretch, from the river bridge to the diamond at junction of State and Fibert streets. It will be a great relief to every one concerned when the road is thrown open for travel, as during the work on it, almost all summer long, proved a detriment to the social and business interests of the town generally.

Mrs. David Reid, of Glen Richey, is visiting with her daughter on Bloomington avenue.

Many people have asked the question, "What does the brickyard do with all of the coal that is being hauled to the yard?" Well, when a plant like that consumes from 50 to 150 tons per day, the question is easily answered.

Mrs. Clyde Black left yesterday for Pittsburg where she will put in most of the winter months.

Ennie Post, one of the town's draymen, has removed from the house he occupied on Thompson street, to his new home across the river, above John McLaughlin's. The house is not fully completed, but he has moved into it anyway.

George L. Benner, attached to the clerical force at the Curwensville National Bank, has gone to his old home in Bethlehem, Pa., where he is spending his vacation with his mother.

The hunters' display window in the Gates hardware store on Fibert street was an attraction which drew the attention and admiration of all those whose ambition is to follow the hunting of wild game.

Harry Shaffer, of DuBois, was a Curwensville visitor yesterday, a guest in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Shaffer on West George street.

A glance into the bowl of the public drinking fountain at the Spencer corner will convince any one that it needs to be cleaned.

The High School football team went to Williamsport Saturday and played a scheduled game with the High School of that city, losing by a 38-0 score. The boys went by auto and were unable to secure any considerable rest before entering the contest. All who witnessed the game declare that the Curwensville boys put up a fine game and kept their opponents busy all the time. The members of the team are becoming seasoned to the work and before the season closes will be in a condition to meet any and all comers on the grid. Curwensville people have not lost faith in the team, but are more than ever determined to have the town placed on the football map. Next Saturday the team jumps to Indiana.

Wednesday night has been the time set by the tribe of Illini Indians for a slaughter of palefaces. The totem has been soured, paw-wows held, totem poles painted and the snake dance performed. Curwensville pioneers and settlers are not alarmed over the signs and smoke warnings, however, as it is only the announcement that some fifty palefaces will become allies of the tribe by adoption and initiation. The new braves will waive the banquet of eating dogs, but probably will be fed with something more palatable and invigorating. Nevertheless it is going to make history for Illini Tribe and will be inscribed on the wampum braves' bark tally sheet as the largest class ever adopted at one single sitting by this tribe.

At a Saturday evening convocation held by the local milkmen of this section it was decided to raise the price of milk from twelve to fourteen cents per quart. High price of feed and little or no pasture brought about the change.

G. J. Booth, the tragedian (father of Ed. Booth), had a broken nose. A lady once remarked to him, "I like your acting, Mr. Booth, but to be frank with you, I can't quite get over your nose." "No wonder, madam," replied he, "The bridge is gone."

automobile tires.

Production of plate glass this year should total about 68,000,000 square feet. Nearly one-third of this, or 21,500,000 square feet, will be required for automobiles.

This year 5,400,000,000 gallons of gasoline will be produced. About 4,320,000,000 gallons, or 80 per cent. of this total, will be used in automobiles.

While over 850,000,000 gallons of lubricating oil will be refined in 1922, only 575,000,000 gallons will be required for domestic consumption. About 230,000,000 gallons, or over 40 per cent., of the domestic consumption will be needed for the operation of automobiles.

About 75,000 bales of Egyptian-type, long staple cotton will be grown in the United States this year while 400,000 bales will be imported from Egypt. About 38 per cent. of this total, or 180,000 bales, will be used in the manufacture of automobile tires.

Any weakness in the market for automotive products will be immediately reflected in the business of all of those industries which depend wholly or in part on the automobile business for a market.

Employs 1,662,000 Wage Earners.

With its various subsidiary lines, the automobile business influences the industrial labor market to a more pronounced extent than does any other great industry.

There are 727,000 wage earners, in production, sales and service work, whose income is derived directly from the industry.

In addition to these there are 935,000 other wage earners, who derive their income indirectly from the automobile business. These are drivers and chauffeurs and workers in industries supplying raw materials to manufacturers of automotive products.

Figures for workers in these industries were obtained by multiplying total workers in each of these industries by the percentage of the total output needed for automotive products.

Directly and indirectly the automobile industry influences the employment of 1,662,000 wage earners.

There are approximately 12,750,000 wage earners supported from manufacturing industries or engaged in transportation. Of these, 13 per cent. are dependent upon the automobile business.

(Carries More People Than Railroads. The automobile is today, the leading passenger transportation agency in the United States.

There are today 55,250 railroad passenger coaches, in use, having a capacity of 2,270,000 passengers. The seating capacity of 9,500,000 automobiles now in use is 47,000,000.

Based on records for the past five years, there should be 47,000,000,000 passenger miles to the credit of rail facilities in 1922. The average number of passengers per automobile is two, and the average annual mileage is six thousand. Hence the automobile must be credited with 114,000,000,000 passenger miles this year.

The automobile business is the most stable of the great industrial enterprises, because it has been the first to return to normal. The number of automobiles and trucks that will be manufactured this year will be slightly in excess of 2,000,000.

FINDS OLD COIN

Washington, Pa., Oct. 2. (U. P.)—A relic of the old Colonial days, discovered by Henry Platts of Scenery Hill while digging potatoes, is causing much comment here.

Platts found a rare old coin bearing the date of 1761 and the inscription "Georgius III Rex." On the reverse side the lettering and design are partly obliterated. The central figure appears to be a girl playing a harp, surmounted by a crown.

Another relic that Platts found is a large, perfectly preserved flat button. Around the margin of the button in neat script letters are the initials of each of the 13 original colonies while in the center are the initials "G. W." with the words "President of the United States."

Tom Connolly, of Snow Shoe, is spending several days at his home on South Fourth street.

"GREATEST" DANCER IN WORLD DETAINED AT ELLIS ISLAND

New York, N. Y., Oct. 2.—Isadora Duncan, who as the "world's greatest dancer" has been teaching the little Bolsheviks of Russia how to be aesthetic since she left here in 1917, and her dancing partner husband, Serge Effrine, were removed from their luxurious suite on the S. S. Paris today to the detention quarters on Ellis Island, where they will await the action of the Department of Immigration. Isadora stated that her sole purpose in returning to America was to show Americans how to dance and raise funds for Russian child relief. Immigration officials are going to make certain her motives before allowing her to land.

A Plain and Frank Statement by the Milk Producers Association of Why It Is Necessary to Advance the Price of Milk Two Cents Per Quart.

All during the summer the price of farm labor has been kept down to a minimum because of the labor troubles at the mines in the district. To give you an idea of how it works: During the strike at the mines it was possible for the farmers in this section to hire labor on the farms for $45.00 per month and the laborer's board. Since the miners have returned to work it is necessary to pay the same men as high as $3.00 to $4.00 per day and their board for doing the same work as they did during the strike for $45.00 per month.

You can readily see where this labor factor enters into the production of the milk being produced by the farmers of this section and if the price to the consumer is not raised it means that many farmers who are now producing milk on a commercial scale will have to go out of business.

Again, the farmer of this section has gone through a period of very high production costs due to weather conditions. On account of the long drouth the pasturage has dried to the extent where it is a negligible quantity. This necessitates the feeding of cows from the stores of grains, silage and other things which should not have been called for until much later in the season.

It is the purpose of the Clearfield County Milk Producers Association to produce only the highest quality of milk for consumption in and around Clearfield and, rather than let the quality deteriorate, it was planned, after a thorough investigation of facts and figures produced by the members, to make this slight advance in price.

ON AND AFTER SUNDAY, OCTOBER 1ST, ALL MILK DELIVERED BY THE CLEARFIELD DAIRY COMPANY WILL BE DELIVERED AT THE RATE OF FOURTEEN CENTS PER QUART.

BANKERS OF U. S. SEE BIG BUSINESS BUT LITTLE BOOM

New York, Oct. 1.—The American Bankers' Association convention here this week has drawn from all sections of the country many hundreds of men who through their close banking contract with business can speak intimately of business conditions. Tersely summarized, their view is that there is great business ahead, but no boom. The hotels are well filled for the sessions, which begin today. 10,000 are in attendance.

Opposition to Branch Banks
Independent bankers representing all sections of the country met in preliminary session today and planned a campaign to put the gathering on record against the establishment of branch banks by the larger national banking houses.

Anti-branch bank headquarters have been established in the Biltmore Hotel by the Chicago and Cook

County Bankers' Association. It was decided to attempt to induce the convention to pass a resolution opposing the branch bank plan, by which national banks in the larger cities may maintain establishments in other cities and towns. They also will see to have the body disapprove the alleged support of this plan by D. R. Crissinger, comptroller of the Treasury. Bankers of the larger cities are expected to attack such resolutions vigorously.

A Sound Position
America is blessed with a beautiful harvest, says Thomas B. McAdam, vice president of the Merchants' National Bank, of Richmond, and president of the American Bankers' Association. "New wealth and an immense food supply have been produced," he says, "and fundamentally we are in a sound financial position and can look forward to increase in commerce and industry, provided carelessness and selfishness are not allowed to undermine the stability of our citizenship.

C. F. Loree, President of the Delaware and Hudson Railroad, was the principal speaker today. He urged state supervision over strike balloting in union labor circles, saying there was no secrecy of the ballot, intimidation was practiced and no protection given the public in a matter in which they were vitally interested. He gave it as his opinion that strike ballot results did not always truly reflect the desires of the worker.

Our Trust Service What It Is

A notable feature of modern financial development—the Trust Service of a National Bank. It provides the thing that can not be found in any one individual, no matter how experienced, capable, honest or responsible he may be.

Our Trust Service is broad in its scope. It conserves the fortune of the widow and orphan; in it are imposed business trusts of all sorts and conditions. The rich man and also the man of modest means participate in it alike.

Gossip For Tonight's Tea Table

Clark B. Read, one of Clearfield's young men, returned to Pittsburgh this morning after spending a most enjoyable week at the Fair, renewing acquaintances and noting the improvements of the "Home Town."

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Hummel, Mrs. Lola Merrey and Walter Merrey spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Zach McNaul, near Lumber City.

Mrs. Cyrus Hoover and daughter Ethel, of Greensburg, are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Rebecca M. Shaw, on Williams street.

In an alley some small boys were taking turns riding a pony. Above the clatter of hoofs on the pavement, a shrill juvenile voice was heard shrieking. "Open him up, Eddie, open him up. Aw gee—he ain't half open!"

Beacon Lights of Business

Along perilous coasts, lighthouses throw their guiding rays far into the night to warn the mariners and help them safely past the shoals.

Business, too, has its beacons. They are the advertisements, which throw a powerful light to guide you in your buying. They show you what to buy, where to buy and when to buy.

Spend a few minutes a day running through the advertisements in this paper. Then buy the products that have proved up in the light of advertising.

Merchants and manufacturers who advertise deliberately focus thousands of eyes on their products. Their wares must be good, their values honest and their prices right or they could not advertise successfully.

In the advertisements you see products that have made good under the critical inspection of buyers. These products are full value products. They return you dollar for dollar. Buy them.

Let the beacon of advertising guide you as it is guiding so many astute buyers.

Then you can know that every cent you spend buys its full quota of value.
